Statement of Intent

Newbold School is required to collect personal information for its employees, trustees, children, parents, and visitors. We intend to meet all the requirements of the Data Protection Act 1998 (the Act) and the General Data Protection Regulation 2018 when collecting, storing, and destroying personal data.

To comply with the law, information must be collected and used fairly, stored safely and not disclosed to any other person unlawfully. To do this, Newbold School must comply with the Data Protection Principles which are set out in the Data Protection Act 1998. In summary these state that personal data must be:

- obtained and processed fairly and lawfully;
- obtained for a specified and lawful purpose and not processed in any manner incompatible with that purpose; adequate, relevant, and not excessive for that purpose;
- accurate and kept up to date;
- not kept for longer than is necessary;
- processed in accordance with the data subject's rights;
- kept safe from unauthorised access, accidental loss, or destruction;
- not be transferred to a country outside the European Economic Area, unless that country has equivalent levels of protection for personal data.

All Newbold staff and volunteers who process or use any personal information must ensure that they follow these principles at all times.

Notification of Data Held and Processed

All employees, trustees, parents, visitors, and other members of the public have the right to:

- know what information Newbold School holds and processes about them and why;
- know how to gain agreed access to it;

- know how to keep it up to date;
- know what Newbold School is doing to comply with its obligations under the General Data Protection Regulation 2018.

The Data Controller and the Designated Data Controllers

Newbold School, under the South England Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists (a registered charity, is the Data Controller and the organisation is therefore ultimately responsible for implementation. However, Designated Data Controllers will deal with day to day matters. Newbold School Designated Data Controller is Mrs J Crissey for the whole school and Mrs M Jennings (for Early Years).

Personal Information

Personal Information is defined as any details relating to a living, identifiable individual. Within Newbold School this relates to employees; registered children and their families; trustees; professional visitors; and some members of the public e.g. job applicants. We need to ensure that the information gained from each individual is kept securely and that an appropriate level of confidentiality is consistently maintained.

The personal information collected from individuals could include:

- Their name
- Address
- Email address
- Telephone numbers-including those of emergency contacts
- Date of birth
- Medical information
- National Insurance number
- DBS numbers
- Observations of children's progress (learning journals)
- Children's reports, preschool or from outside professionals.
- Photographs
- Family medical history when necessary

Newbold School stores personal information to comply with the statutory curriculum (DfE, 2014), and statutory framework (EYFS 2021); to deliver services to our families e.g. government funding; to employ suitable people for our setting.

Processing of Personal Information

All staff and volunteers who process or use any personal information are responsible for ensuring that:

- Any personal information which they hold is kept securely;
- Personal information is not disclosed either orally or in writing or otherwise to any unauthorised third party.

Staff and volunteers should note that unauthorised disclosure is a disciplinary matter and may be considered gross misconduct in some cases.

Personal information should be:

- kept in a locked filing cabinet;
- in a locked cupboard;
- be password protected, if it is computerised;
- kept on a storage device which is itself kept securely.

Conversations and Meetings

Information of a personal or confidential nature should not be discussed in a public area or in front of anyone that is not an employee of Newbold School. Newbold School employees should be aware of confidentiality at all times when discussions are taking place - either distancing themselves from the conversation if it does not concern them or ensuring that their discussion is not overheard by others. All staff should respect the confidential nature of any information inadvertently overheard.

When meetings of a confidential nature are being recorded, it is important that only relevant information is written down. This must be carried out using the correct forms provided by the school; notes must be written legibly and coherently. The written notes are then to be stored in a locked cupboard and disposed of (shredded) in a timely manner once the child/family has left the setting unless they are a record of a child protection issue.

Collecting Information

Whenever information is collected about people, they should be informed why the information is being collected, who will be able to access it and to what purposes it will be put. The individual concerned must agree that he or she understands and gives permission for the declared processing to take place, or it must be necessary for the legitimate business of the preschool.

Sensitive Information

Sensitive information is defined as anything relating to ethnicity, political opinions, religious beliefs, trade union membership, physical or mental health, sex life, criminal proceedings or convictions. The person about whom this data is being kept must give express consent to the processing of such data, except where the data processing is required by law for employment purposes or to protect the vital interests of the person or a third party.

Disposal of Confidential Material

Sensitive material should be shredded as soon as it is no longer needed, following retention guidelines and statutory requirements. Particular care should be taken to delete information from the tablets or the computer hard drive if they are to be disposed of.

Staff Responsibilities

All staff are responsible for checking that any information they provide to Newbold School in connection with their employment is accurate and up to date. Staff have the right to access any personal data that is being kept about them, either on computer or in manual filing systems. Staff should be aware of and follow this policy and seek further guidance where necessary.

Duty to Disclose Information

There is a legal duty to disclose certain information, namely information about:

- child abuse, (which will be disclosed to Social Services),
- drug trafficking, money laundering, acts of terrorism or treason (all of which will be disclosed to the police).

Retention of Data

Newbold School takes care to only store personal information that is absolutely necessary. Personal information is kept for the period of time required, following guidelines from the ICO. These retention periods are either recommended or statutory. Stored information is filed in locked cabinets on the school premises. Once the retention period has lapsed, the information is destroyed and disposed of securely.

For retention periods please see the guidance on <https://www.gov.uk/data-protection>

Safeguarding information

If a child is at risk of harm, this supercedes data protection regulations. Information, therefore, may be passed onto relevant third-party authorities, as needed, to ensure the child is protected
